T1V Aligns with Skyline Ohio to Bring inTouch Interactive Platform to Event Marketers

T1V has signed on Skyline Ohio to represent the inTouch Platform, including touchscreen tables and walls, digital signage, and mobile apps.

Charlotte, NC -- T1V, a provider of interactive touchscreen technology, announces it has signed an agreement with Skyline Ohio to represent the inTouch™ Platform, including T1V inTouch Interactive Tables and Walls, T1V multitouch, multiuser software, digital signage, and mobile apps.

This alignment comes as T1V continues to expand its presence in the events, exhibits, and tradeshow market across the U.S. Skyline Ohio brings 15 years of experience in the industry, offering a wealth of knowledge of and relationships with event marketers.

“Our goal is to be a complete marketing resource for our customers at their tradeshows, events, and in their overall marketing efforts,” says Jeanette Armbrust, CEO of Skyline Ohio. She continues, “Digital engagement and branding was the one area that we needed to add to our company portfolio to complete our well-rounded creative services. T1V is the perfect partner for us on the digital side of our business! We are excited to represent them in Ohio and to add this product and service to our capabilities.”

T1V’s inTouch Platform is an interactive system that is flexible and modular by design. Its products are built to make company representatives more effective in the tradeshow environment, while boosting engagement and interaction for show attendees. Solutions are both customizable and turnkey – providing a fully branded experience to visitors while giving exhibiting companies a seamless and timely solution that can be integrated with existing booth layouts and designs. All inTouch products feature session tracking and analytics for post-show performance reviews and follow-up campaigns.

“Skyline Ohio has an impressive track record of developing and marketing tradeshow products and services for over 15 years,” says Marco Ventura, T1V vice president of sales and marketing. “This partnership allows T1V to continue its expansion into the tradeshow market, while providing Skyline Ohio a new line-up of interactive products for its customers.”
