

CORE USE CASE

ThinkHub innovation lab sparks collaboration between university and community

DATE OF ACTIVATION

November 2020

PROJECT LOCATION

Lexington, KY

DESCRIPTION

University of Kentucky's (UK) brand-new, multifunctional building, The Cornerstone, emerges as a link between the UK campus and Lexington community. UK sought a flexible, technology-rich solution to power their innovation lab. ThinkHub collaboration technology is now featured in the open-space innovative environment for students, faculty, staff, and members of the local community to reserve for collaboration sessions, distance teaching and learning, and more.

- (2) 75" ThinkHub mobile carts featured in the innovation lab
- Digital whiteboarding, notes, web browser, and grouping tool for content co-creation and collaboration
- Integrated video conferencing apps to connect students, faculty, staff and community members
- Interactive Canvas for unlimited content and wireless device sharing from in-room and remote participants

